

Scott Chang works with Courtney Hudson on decorating and filling care packages for the Milwaukee Rescue Mission on Martin Luther King Jr. Day at University Lake School in Hartland.

Anna Crosby and Hanna Rose Eagan work together on a fleece blanket for the residents of Hartland Senior Living in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. on Jan. 15 at University Lake School.

Submitted photos

University Lake School middle-schoolers Carly White and Ilse Highlander make a no-sew fleece blanket for Hartland Senior Living on Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

ULS gives service on MLK Jr. Day

HARTLAND — Middle school students from University Lake School honored Martin Luther King Jr. on Jan. 15 by serving those in the community. The middle school students spent the day participating in 45-minute workshops where they decorated and filled care packages for the Milwaukee Rescue Mission and created no-sew fleece blankets for the residents of Hartland Senior Living. Students also learned about King's legacy and the service opportunities available in the communities.