

Submitted photo

University Lake School students help with controlled burn

HARTLAND — Each year, upper school students at University Lake School are given the opportunity to renew the prairie ecosystem. During the past 12 years, students and faculty, along with the Lake Country Fire Department, hold an annual prairie burn on the school's prairie to help germinate seeds, eliminate invasive species and return nutrients to the soil.

Environmental science teacher emeritus Steven Tomasini, left, works with biology and environmental science students during the prairie burn April 25.